

Primary School Student Script Show Summaries

Aliens in Our School

In a schoolyard, a group of students is confronted by bullies, but the situation takes an unexpected turn when friendly aliens land in a spaceship. Curious about Earth, the aliens quickly bond with the students, but their arrival draws the attention of a group of special agents who believe the aliens are dangerous. To protect their new friends, the students disguise the aliens as classmates, while the bullies plot to capture the aliens to gain fame. When a fire breaks out, the aliens save the bullies, proving their good intentions. Realizing their mistake, the agents allow the aliens to stay. Using their alien powers, the aliens repair the school before returning to their home planet, leaving behind new friendships and a stronger community.

A Midsummer Night's Dream

A modern and simplified version of Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream. This is a play filled with magic, love and lots of laughter. Deep within a magical forest the four teenagers find their lives turned upside down when a troublesome fairy named Puck decides to play Cupid. Meanwhile a troupe of terrible actors are preparing a very important show. A chaotic adventure begins in the forest when fairies, actors, and teenagers combine. Puck knows, falling in love can make fools of us all.

An Easter to Remember (Can include songs)

The story revolves around a group of students who, excited about the upcoming Easter break, are reminded by their lunch lady that Easter is about more than just chocolate. Angels overhear the conversation and decide to intervene. They take the students on a time-traveling adventure to witness biblical stories that highlight the true meaning of Easter. The first stop is the parable of the Good Samaritan, where they witness an act of kindness between strangers. Next, they travel to the story of the Lost Sheep, learning about the importance of every individual and the concept of no one being left behind. Finally, they witness the parable of the Prodigal Son, experiencing forgiveness and the joy of new beginnings. Upon returning to school, the students realize the deeper meaning of Easter and express gratitude to the angels for the enlightening journey. Overall, the story serves as a heartwarming and educational exploration of the true essence of Easter beyond the traditional celebrations.

Beauty and the Beast (Can include songs)

The Wicked Queen and her evil hench-men have cast a spell on Prince Christian, turning him into an ugly and horrible beast. The only way the spell can be broken is if someone falls in love with the beast and says the magic words. Elsewhere in the forest lives a beautiful girl named Beauty with her parents and sisters. Beauty runs into the Beast and they quickly become friends. This is an adaptation of the famous fairytale filled with lots of silly scenes and chances for students to express themselves.

This is our adaptation of the classic fairy tale and it gives a perfect opportunity to showcase a wide range of characters.

Searching for A Dream (Can include songs)

The story follows Sam and their friends who, upon turning a certain age, receive envelopes revealing their life dreams during a special celebration. While each friend gets a unique dream, Sam is left without one, prompting them to venture into Dreamland, where dreams are created but threatened by Nightmares—creatures that turn dreams into fears. With the guidance of the Mayor and Dream Creatures, the kids seek the Valley of Hope to find a magical light to defeat the Nightmares. Initially overwhelmed by doubt, they regain hope through Sam's encouragement, driving the Nightmares away and saving Dreamland. In the end, Sam realizes that dreams are something one chooses for themselves and decides their dream is to help others find hope.

The Day We Saved Our School

A group of students are given a final assignment by their teacher, Mr. Wu. They are asked to reflect on how their school has prepared them for their futures. Meanwhile, a gang called the Crow Gang plans to take over the school and demand a ransom. They infiltrate the school and take the students and Mr. Wu hostage. The students devise a clever plan to turn the gang members against their leader. This distraction allows the students to escape and call the police. The students are hailed as heroes for their quick thinking and teamwork. They realize that their school has provided them with valuable skills, which they showcase in their final presentations. In the end, the students appreciate the education and experiences they've had at their school and successfully complete their final year with a newfound sense of gratitude and purpose.

The Dream-Maker's Carnival (Can include songs)

The magical Dream-Maker's Carnival is a place where dreams come true, but when the Dream Maker announces a new successor will be chosen from among the children, they begin to argue, each wanting the power for themselves. Meanwhile, a villain and his bumbling minions use this rivalry to trick the children into stealing each other's dreams with magical tools, causing the carnival to fall apart. However, the Dream Maker and workers intervene, teaching the children that dreams must be shared, not stolen. The children realize their mistake, forgive the villain and his minions, and, with newfound unity, they restore the carnival and everyone's dreams, leading to a joyful celebration.

The Magical Children

Based on the Chinese myth "The Ten Brothers," a group of children with unique powers argue about who is the best, ignoring their parent's advice that they must work together. When an evil villain kidnaps their parents, the children are forced to put aside their differences to rescue her. Initially, some try to act alone and fail, but with encouragement from town guards, the siblings finally combine their abilities. Together, they outsmart the villain, rescue their parents, and learn that teamwork is their greatest strength, leading to the villain's defeat and the family's reunion.
